Great, Thanks for finding that. That should be a good tool to get them started on filling out the info that we'll need to outline.

Not qualified to diagnose crazy, but yes there is a table (attached). It's under the public site, Library, data sets, as a cross reference table. I think I need to get it moved to the top where that one rouge data set ended up. I'll have to talk with Tracy about that after the holidays.

Ugg! It seems you did this nice table with historic data sets - true? I wondered if we might use that as launching pad for the cstag info; not sure Jen wants sampling efforts in table format but we discuss next week if the table does exist :) I have done a few searches w/ no luck - hm..
